

Free study*

Opportunity for 2011 in Health Promotion

Bachelor of Health Science in Health Promotion

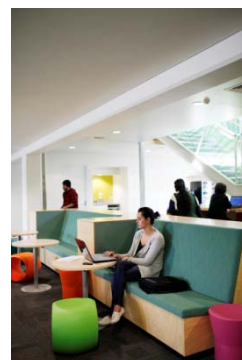

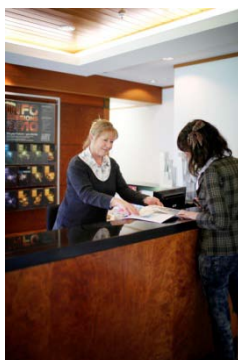

AUT University is offering a limited number of scholarships into the Bachelor of Health Science in Health Promotion at our Manukau campus. Enrolments close 25 February so apply today.

A career as a Health Promoter

Many health and social issues, such as obesity, diabetes, heart disease, depression, alcohol and drug harm are largely preventable. Health Promoters work with communities to improve health and prevent illness and disease. If you are passionate about making a difference in these areas, enrol in our Health Promotion degree.

Health Promotion degree

This degree is both theoretical and practical with 150 hours in a health promotion agency so students gain valuable hands on workplace experience, before embarking on any number of career opportunities.

Manukau Campus

In the prime location in the heart of Manukau City, AUT is Manukau's only University. Enjoy studying world class programmes on a campus designed to enhance your studying experience, featuring: a library, café, computer labs, students areas, as well a student Shuttle bus service between Manukau, City and North Shore campuses.

For more information, please contact:

Course Enrolment
0800 AUT UNI (0800 288 864)

courseinfo@aut.ac.nz

Or apply online at <http://arion.aut.ac.nz>

Health Promotion Programme Leader
Ruth DeSouza

ruth.desouza@aut.ac.nz

www.authealth.ac.nz

* Scholarships only cover course tuition fees and the student levy and are subject to conditions.